CIPS Jan 10th Webinar: "Technology Is Eating The World! And Startups Are Leading The Way"

Marc Andreessen famously noted that Software was Eating the World. Half a decade later, we are seeing new business models emerge, powered by advances in technology, that are systematically unbundling traditionally capital intensive industries such as banking, insurance, automotive and hospitality. And the majority of this change is being driven by startups. Can corporations create the same outcomes as startups? Ryan will share insights on the mindsets, tools and methodologies that startups utilize, and highlight the stark contrasts between startups and corporates. Includes case study on new approaches to ideation, validation and product launches, leading to better outcomes.

Presenter:

Ryan Poissant, Sr. Director - Corporate Engagement, Mars Discover District

CIPS Jan 24th Webinar: "How to Turn 3-Minute Conversations Into Relationships, Referrals and Revenues"

FACT: Networking has evolved from a "nice to do" activity to a required professional competency. In today's complex and competitive business environment, the scope and diversity of your network often determines both professional and personal success.

Unfortunately, for over 90% of business professionals, it is also a misunderstood and abused business strategy.

This webinar addresses the most common networking myths, explores secret network principles and supplies success strategies for creating and leveraging a network of relationships.

Presenter: Michael J. Hughes, North America's Networking Guru
