CIPS AB Calgary Jan. 25 SIG Meeting: 'Welcome to the Cognitive Era'

CIPS

The digitally enabled business is not the destination, but the foundation for the Cognitive Business Era, known to many as Watson. While there are great benefits from applying the individual technologies of cloud, analytics, security, mobility and social — the greatest value comes from putting these capabilities together, in the context of an industry; we're doing that with Petroleum and Mining, we're bringing cognitive to this industry which will revolutionize how we solve problems. Canadian banks top targets of malware, says report from Trend Micro

IT World Canada

The Toronto-Dominion Bank was the most targeted Canadian brand by malware last year, according to a Trend Micro analysis of data gathered from customers of its products. Senior threat researcher Natasha Hellberg wrote in a blog this week on the Canadian threat landscape that the second most predominately attempted brand of credential attempted to be captured was the Bank of Montreal, followed by CIBC.
