Post-secondary accreditation: A key differentiator when hiring new grads

IT World Canada

According to a recent Information and Communications Technology Council (ICTC) report, "by 2016 approximately 106,000 jobs will need to be filled in Canada with demand for critical jobs far exceeding supply." Compounding this challenge is an ICT sector unemployment rate of three per cent versus the national average of 7.5 per cent for all other sectors and the continued emergence of ICT sectors in segments such as the mobile arena, cloud computing and creative online content.
