June 2013 CIPS Volunteer of the Month: Brian Helstrom, I.S.P., ITCP

CIPS

CIPS has provided me the opportunity to network with many highly accredited individuals nationally and to participate in influencing the direction of IT professionalism with Canada. It has offered me the challenges of working with organization made of good intention volunteers with a diverse view of where the IT profession needs to go. CIPS has offered me fellowship with some of the best people I have had the pleasure to share ideas with and has provide that comradery of acceptance wherever I go in Canada and sometimes beyond.

Despite uncertainties, 46 per cent of IT employees are looking

Computerworld

The percentage of IT employees interested in getting a new job is rising, even as they lose confidence in the economic outlook, new survey data shows. Randstad Technologies, a staffing and recruiting firm, found that 46 per cent of technology workers are likely to look for a new job this year, an independent survey taken in the first quarter found. In the quarter a year ago it was at 41 per cent.
