CIPS' Crowdfunding Campaign ends Aug. 22nd: Please help support professionalism and ethics in IT

CIPS

In the wake of HeartBleed and the numerous recent privacy breaches that have created growing concerns, the need for professionalism and ethics in IT has never been higher. We live in a highly connected world where technology has become the central nervous system of our modern society. Technology has changed our world for the better, but technology also has fantastic potential for misuse as far too regularly witnessed.

Research: Heartbleed exposed cache problem

IT World Canada

Most IT security pros think of the Heartbleed bug as a software vulnerability in some versions of the OpenSSL software library. Certainly that's what they thought last April when the first word of the problem flashed around the world and organizations scrambled to update their versions of the software.

Lyon Declaration On Access to Information and Development launched

CIPS

Access to information, and libraries, play a critical role in supporting development. To advance this position, IFLA has today launched the Lyon Declaration on Access to Information and Development outlining the need for access to information to be recognised in the United Nations post-2015 development framework. The framework will succeed the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) and set the agenda for development for the next decade.
