Fighting back: Is the time for defensive IT security policy over?

IT World Canada

Is it time to move away from defence-based protection of our data and IT systems and fight back against those who would use computers to compromise power, water, communication and transportation infrastructure? It is becoming increasingly clear that there are two distinct camps when it comes to how best address the growing cyber threats we face daily: the defenders are committed to putting up strong barriers and frustrating the attackers' attempts to gain entry.

Are you hoarding data?

IT World Canada

The cloud allows very simple scalability. But before we scale up we need to think about a number of concerns including data sovereignty and data integrity. I would argue the latter is most important.
