A comprehensive approach to implementing security for businesses

IT World Canada

Nearly daily headlines about hacker attacks, the continuing Snowden WikiLeaks revelations and large-scale data breaches such as the recent Target fiasco are unnerving many executives. News of these ostensibly unstoppable events is creating paranoia and uncertainty in many executive suites about how best to protect businesses against cyber-attacks.

National Privacy & Data Governance Congress

CIPS

PACC already has an amazing line-up of speakers that will provide Congress delegates a novel learning experience that's long overdue. The format of all plenary, workshop and breakout sessions will be longer than you're used to. And presentations will be shorter — so that there will be plenty of time for delegates to pose questions, get answers, and engage in meaningful conversations with presenters, colleagues, and decision makers from across Canada.
